

Synod of the Trinity

Synod Treasurer Chantal Atnip standing for GA moderator

It is with great honor that the Synod of the Trinity announces that our treasurer, Chantal Atnip, is standing for the position of moderator for this year's 223rd General Assembly in St. Louis. Chantal, who has worked for the Synod since 2005, is a ruling elder and clerk of session at Pine Street Presbyterian Church in Harrisburg, PA, in the Presbytery of Carlisle.

Chantal's story of feeling God's call to this position is a great one, and her unique approach to the position sets her apart from the rest.

"I think we are in, again, a period of time where we need to discover what it means to be Christian," Chantal said, "what it means to be Presbyterian, what it means to live our faith in the world that we are in now."

Chantal has been feeling this call for nearly two years, which she first realized during a Synod regional gathering in Allentown, PA. Former Synod Moderator Johnnie Monroe was leading opening devotions when she felt the Spirit beginning to work within her.

"Johnnie was preaching that you can't put the hand to the plow and look back and be fit for the kingdom of Heaven," Chantal recalled vividly. "I had a total body, soul, mind experience in listening to him that day. I had a total realization that God is alive, well and acting in the world."

To read more about Chantal's journey, find several stories on the Synod of the Trinity website: www.SynTrinity.org.

Synod of the Trinity

Synod Treasurer Chantal Atnip standing for GA moderator

It is with great honor that the Synod of the Trinity announces that our treasurer, Chantal Atnip, is standing for the position of moderator for this year's 223rd General Assembly in St. Louis. Chantal, who has worked for the Synod since 2005, is a ruling elder and clerk of session at Pine Street Presbyterian Church in Harrisburg, PA, in the Presbytery of Carlisle.

Chantal's story of feeling God's call to this position is a great one, and her unique approach to the position sets her apart from the rest.

"I think we are in, again, a period of time where we need to discover what it means to be Christian," Chantal said, "what it means to be Presbyterian, what it means to live our faith in the world that we are in now."

Chantal has been feeling this call for nearly two years, which she first realized during a Synod regional gathering in Allentown, PA. Former Synod Moderator Johnnie Monroe was leading opening devotions when she felt the Spirit beginning to work within her.

"Johnnie was preaching that you can't put the hand to the plow and look back and be fit for the kingdom of Heaven," Chantal recalled vividly. "I had a total body, soul, mind experience in listening to him that day. I had a total realization that God is alive, well and acting in the world."

To read more about Chantal's journey, find several stories on the Synod of the Trinity website: www.SynTrinity.org.

Around your Synod

The Synod of the Trinity is dedicated to keeping our presbyteries and congregations updated on events happening within our region. Visit our website (www.SynTrinity.org) today for these stories and more:

FEATURE STORIES

Gilbert Presbyterian Church answers Jay Nunley's call

There's a rather unique situation occurring at Gilbert Presbyterian Church in West Virginia these days. Jay Nunley has been accepted into the pulpit there on a regular basis despite not having completed seminary school, or even CRE training. His journey to become a pastor is an incredible leap of faith taken both by him and those at Gilbert.

Churches persevere despite massive snow in Erie, PA

Wintry weather has once again coated the Synod region, but for those in Erie, they have certainly received their share of the white stuff this season. That area has received more than 120 inches of snow, but despite that, churches have been able to escape mostly damage free.

APCE honors Forrest Palmer for lifetime of service and teaching

At the annual Association of Presbyterian Church Educators' meeting in early February, retired interim executive for the Presbytery of West Virginia Forrest Palmer was honored with the organization's Lifetime Achievement Award.

Redstone group experiences 'Bible coming alive' in Holy Lands

In October, 29 "pilgrims" took a 13-day trip endorsed by the Presbytery of Redstone to the Middle East so they could experience journeys similar to those that are depicted in the Bible. Needless to say, the excursion was one that will leave each member of the group with lasting memories.

Synod Features

Find these resources and many others on the Synod website:

- Church Safety
- Job Openings
- Events Calendar
- Financial Resources
- Message from Synod Moderator John Bolt
- 300th Anniversary Feature Stories

Being More Together

Around your Synod

The Synod of the Trinity is dedicated to keeping our presbyteries and congregations updated on events happening within our region. Visit our website (www.SynTrinity.org) today for these stories and more:

FEATURE STORIES

Gilbert Presbyterian Church answers Jay Nunley's call

There's a rather unique situation occurring at Gilbert Presbyterian Church in West Virginia these days. Jay Nunley has been accepted into the pulpit there on a regular basis despite not having completed seminary school, or even CRE training. His journey to become a pastor is an incredible leap of faith taken both by him and those at Gilbert.

Churches persevere despite massive snow in Erie, PA

Wintry weather has once again coated the Synod region, but for those in Erie, they have certainly received their share of the white stuff this season. That area has received more than 120 inches of snow, but despite that, churches have been able to escape mostly damage free.

APCE honors Forrest Palmer for lifetime of service and teaching

At the annual Association of Presbyterian Church Educators' meeting in early February, retired interim executive for the Presbytery of West Virginia Forrest Palmer was honored with the organization's Lifetime Achievement Award.

Redstone group experiences 'Bible coming alive' in Holy Lands

In October, 29 "pilgrims" took a 13-day trip endorsed by the Presbytery of Redstone to the Middle East so they could experience journeys similar to those that are depicted in the Bible. Needless to say, the excursion was one that will leave each member of the group with lasting memories.

Synod Features

Find these resources and many others on the Synod website:

- Church Safety
- Job Openings
- Events Calendar
- Financial Resources
- Message from Synod Moderator John Bolt
- 300th Anniversary Feature Stories

Being More Together